Employment History

AIMIA

Plymouth, Minnesota

Associate Interactive Developer (April 2012–Present)

Responsible for merging low-level wireframes with high-level mocks ups, I integrated content management systems into client's products for both mobile and desktop experiences, bringing the final product from the flat files designs into interactive creations.

SoulPancake

Los Angeles, California & Minneapolis, Minnesota

Front-end Design & Development (June 2011—November 2012)
Intern (April 2011—June 2011)

Starting as an intern and growing to be a contractor, I worked with a small team from around the country to update and develop new features for SoulPancake's system. Leading the front-end creation, my responsibility was to design, prototype, refine and deploy HTML, CSS and jQuery.

AlphaGraphics

Minneapolis, Minnesota

Bindery Production (October 2010—June 2011)

Working with client's products, I cut and bound printed material to produce their final item.

Tutor & Teachers Assistant

Minneapolis, Minnesota

(October 2009—June 2010)

As a tutor, I helped fellow students increase their understanding in front-end theories and languages.
